Millions across the region have faced severe food insecurity fueled by a combination of prolonged droughts, erratic weather, and the presence of conflict in several countries.

People in the region have struggled to find enough food to sustain themselves and their families.

Communities torn apart by violence have been left with limited access to resources, leaving them even more vulnerable.

Your gift is on its way to help vulnerable people in East Africa.

Thanks to your fast and generous response, and with the match funding offered by the Government of Canada through our partnership with the Humanitarian Coalition, families in the region are receiving the critical support that they need.

One example of this is our work assisting Sudanese refugees in Chad. The conflict in Sudan has caused thousands of people to seek refuge across the Chadian border and so, working with our partners, we are providing shelter and WASH (Water, Sanitation and Hygiene).

We are also working to provide access to emergency shelter and household items for families, increasing gender-equitable access to WASH infrastructure and improving hygiene and sanitation practices among affected communities.

Vulnerable households, including those headed by women, people with disabilities, pregnant and breastfeeding women, and households with children aged between 0 and 12 years, are among the many beneficiaries of your compassion.

Your compassion is saving lives. On behalf of our partners and everyone at Canadian Lutheran World Relief, thank you.
