

YOUR IMPACT IN UKRAINE

DONATION IMPACT REPORT

CLWR is responding to the Ukraine crisis as part of ACT Alliance, a coalition of churches and faith-based organisations working together in 127 countries around the world.

KEY IMPACT

Our local partners have provided the following support to date:

- 676 tons of food & supplies
- $9.8 million medical equipment
- 2 Refugee Support Points in Ukraine and Hungary to provide links to safe transport and food
- 2 Child Friendly Spaces in Budapest to provide information and basic necessities.
- Transitional shelters in Hungary and Ukraine

CLWR is continuing to raise funds and rush emergency assistance to the 7 million refugees who have fled Ukraine and the 8 million people who are internally displaced.

Our partners in the ACT Alliance are responding in Ukraine and the region to meet immediate humanitarian needs such as food, shelter, emergency supplies and trauma support.

We will also support the vital coordinating work of Lutheran World Federation (LWF). Across Europe, members of LWF are mobilizing to provide humanitarian assistance to those in need and are preparing for a long-term response to help refugee populations in locations throughout Europe.

We're so grateful that you have been part of this response. Thank you for your kindness and generosity at this crucial time.

Canadian Lutheran
World Relief

Nadiya Petrovna Chiripovskaya, photographed here at the Chop railway station in western Ukraine, fled her home near Kharkov after the first bombs hit the area. The attacks were loud and frightening. She doesn't remember when or how she got out: "My kids just took me with them." Her biggest hope is that things will change for the better and the crisis will end soon. "Many children are suffering because of the war."

Photo: Antti Yrjönen/FCA

Two-month-old Nastia is the youngest person taking refuge at the shelter in Lviv operated by ACT Alliance member Hungarian Interchurch Aid. Nastia's family came here after her mother Natalia fled their home near Kyiv with her two young children. The bombings in their home village were incredibly stressful for Natalia: "When at night there was bombing, I did not know where to go. We had a fear that our building will be destroyed. In this refugee shelter I feel peaceful." Photo: Antti Yrjönen/FCA

Daryna (name changed) plays at an aid station in Barabás, a small Hungarian village at the border of Ukraine where a CLWR partner is assisting Ukrainian refugees. ACT Alliance member Hungarian Interchurch Aid has been providing shelter, food, drinks and hygiene items for people fleeing across the border. Daryna's family fled from near the Crimean Peninsula. Photo: Antti Yrjönen/FCA

With your support, we can show people like Nadiya, Nastia and Daryna that there is hope.