

DONATION IMPACT REPORT

THANK YOU!

Thanks to your generous support, our response to this crisis has been immediate.

Donations to our Canadian Foodgrains Bank appeal are eligible to be matched 4:1 by the Federal Government, increasing the impact of your gift.

COVID-19 is disrupting people's access to food and income across the world. For families who were already facing conflict, displacement and the effects of climate change, that means they're suddenly at even greater risk of hunger.

Your partnership means communities have what they need to withstand this crisis — and the resources to recover when it's over.

Namana Lomor is a young woman from South Sudan whose family is receiving emergency help through the Foodgrains Bank.

Your support is already making a difference!

In Burundi, which has the highest level of hunger in the world, COVID-19 is expected to have a devastating impact. With your help, 3,000 people are receiving emergency food vouchers for eight months, giving them enough time to recover while they plant and harvest their first crop or try to re-establish other sources of income. They are also receiving long-term livelihoods support, which allows them to purchase tools and supplies to help develop their income sources.

In South Sudan, even before the pandemic, 6.5 million people were expected to face crisis-level food insecurity this summer. Your gift is providing more than 6,000 people with emergency food to help families get through this critical gap to harvest in September.

Your gift has been meaningful and impactful.

On behalf of our partners and everyone at Canadian Lutheran World Relief, thank you.
