2022

2022 HIGHLIGHTS

86,476
DAYS OF SAFETY, RESCUE, AND CARE

In 2022, you provided 86,476 days of safety, rescue, and care to women and children! Not only are they able to escape the despair of the sex trade through vocational training and rehabilitation, but you also provided safety, food, and education for their children when they come to live at our safe houses.

ALOK'S REMARKABLE TURNAROUND

The first moment Alok arrived at our safe house, we could sense the deep wounds he carried inside. His dark eyes betrayed a pain that is hard to fathom.

His father died in a car accident when he was just a child and his mother, rejected by family, was eventually lured to the sex trade. She raised him as a single mother but failed to protect him from the exploitation of those around them. Alok was angry, deeply scarred, and hopeless.

But thanks to generous support from donors like you, Alok got a fresh start in one of our safe houses. He finally found the care, comfort, and security he deserves.

Today, we're immensely proud to share that his mother has left the sex trade and started a reputable job with the government. And Alok? He's changed. He's hopeful and optimistic. Both him and his mother are thriving outside of the red-light district.

QUENCHING RAVI'S THIRST FOR EDUCATION

Ravi's mother wants nothing but the best for her son. Being the only two in their family, they have to rely on each other for everything, including fetching water from a distant well. It often made Ravi late or miss school altogether.

But now, thanks to a new well in their village, they don't have to trek long distances anymore. And Ravi's mother couldn't be happier. Finally, her son can go to school and get the education he deserves.

144 WOMEN RESCUED AND REHABILITATED

Deceived and trafficked, millions of women are forced to do horrible things to survive. Most of these women lack the necessary education and skills to pursue safe alternative livelihood opportunities.

You gave hope for recovery through rehabilitation that focuses on relationship and trust building, awareness, mentoring, education, and counseling. Thanks to your donations, 144 women have been given a chance to break free from their enslavement and start anew.

SURVIVAL AND SUCCESS IN MUMBAI

Bano's early childhood was a happy one, spent among her own people and the culture she knew so well. However, as often happens, poverty forced her family to uproot and seek opportunities elsewhere. They settled in Mumbai, India, where on day Bano found herself lost in the dangerous red-light districts of the city, and fell prey to the wrong people.

After experiencing unspeakable tragedy, Bano found the strength to seek out help and was referred to our rehabilitation program. There, she embraced the opportunity to learn and grow, developing a newfound passion for education and for making jewelry to support herself. Today, Bano is continuing her learning journey by attending college and forging a brighter, happier future for herself and her family.

241 WOMEN COMPLETED TAILORING TRAINING

241 women went through our sewing training and received a sewing machine to start their own tailoring business. These women, who are often poor mothers and widows, now have an opportunity to use their skills to rise out of poverty and work toward a promising future for themselves and their families.

LAILA'S JOURNEY OF TRANSFORMATION

Once trapped in poverty, Laila's future seemed bleak. Lacking any formal education, she fought to survive as a rag picker.

But you provided her with the opportunity to attend tailoring training which opened doors to a better life.

With unwavering determination, Laila not only mastered the art of tailoring but also honed her business skills to promote her craft. Now, she earns a fair wage and is able to provide for her children. For them, education is no longer out of reach, but a right they can embrace.

SAINA'S PURSUIT OF EDUCATION

Meet Saina, a bright young girl who is about to enter 7th grade. She lives with her parents, two brothers and two sisters in a shanty house in the slums. They work hard as ragpickers to provide for their family but still having food, clothing, and shelter is a daily struggle.

Education was a luxury they couldn't afford. Then she was given the opportunity to attend one of our slum schools. Saina is now making excellent grades and has hopes that focusing on her studies will give her a better life. Thanks to your support, we can continue to provide education to children like Saina!

Our programs target the unique educational challenges of children in extreme poverty, employing Process Education for accelerated learning. We also provide residential programs for girls at risk of early marriage. You gave vulnerable children the opportunity to learn and succeed.

68 PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES LEARNED A TRADE

You helped people with disabilities get out of poverty, by supporting our programs that work out tailor-made options to improve their livelihood. This may mean computer training, tailoring education, or providing the equipment necessary to start small businesses. Whether renting a storefront, starting a pavement shop, or selling from a push cart, you provided the tools and support to keep expanding their business and earning a steady income for years to come.

THE COURAGEOUS ENTREPRENEUR

Chandra has known hardship and disappointment. She tragically lost her fingers in an accident and her husband abandoned her and her children. Her future was uncertain, and she struggled to provide for her family.

Your contributions helped her set up a business selling cleaning items. Through our program for people with disabilities, she learned the ins and outs of running a successful business and turned her life around.

Now, Chandra is thriving in her new venture, and her smile reflects the newfound confidence and hope that she has.
