

You are invited to join a reforestation revolution and grow your own forest

Are you ready to do something utterly beautiful, crucial and generous for this world of ours? Our planet needs to cool down, and every single one of us has the power to make that difference.

This is a call to help create a new normal; one where all of us take action to cool our world. We can do this by helping to reforest the critical tropical forest belt that cools the hottest regions of our world.

Tropical forests sequester carbon three times as fast as temperate forests, provide a vast amount of planetary rainfall, help stabilise our climate and are a habitat for endangered species. Our tropical forests are burning all around the world, and these are forests that we cannot live without.

Will you help us reforest the tropics by growing your own forest?

Imagine...

Every shop, restaurant, hotel, church, school, festival, business, community group, concert and film... and every service provider, coach or yoga teacher, artist, musician, bread baker, veggie box creator... every family that longs for a safe future for their children: we stop waiting for our leaders to do something that makes sense, and we take climate leadership ourselves.

All of us start growing our own forests, and invite everyone we know to do the same. Wouldn't that feel amazing?

How?

Decide how you want to give. Per month? Per product? Per transaction? Per night? Per ticket? Make a choice that feels really good.

Then sign up at www.treesisters.org

We will grow your forest across Brazil, Amazonia, Kenya, Cameroon, Mozambique, Madagascar, India and Nepal.

Millions of trees and growing fast with your help! Thank you for making a difference.
