

TreeSisters is an organisation that has arisen out of an experience of volunteering and therefore places volunteering at the heart of its culture.

Nest River Tender

The What:

A medium sized group of volunteers in the TreeSisters Nest who are modelling the kind of encouraging sisterhood that we know supports women to bring their gifts and take action on behalf of the planet. The Nest is our growing online community platform and needs tender nurturing. This is a role that offers both personal growth and the opportunity to be deep in the weaving of healthy sisterhood. You will not have a moderator badge in this role to identify you to other members.

The Why:

The Nest is a growing online treesisters community that we'd love to see flourish. It holds all of our niche groups, such as Research, Arts, Groves, Water Carriers, Donors etc, plus a Community Noticeboard and Marketplace. Each group has its own guidelines, some more contained than others. Those guidelines create the safety that women need in order to drop into intimacy, sharing and sisterhood with one another. This role is one of deep listening, responding, encouraging, and supporting (without giving advice) women in the network so that they feel held and heard. It's about fostering deep connections.

Skills / experience needed for this role

- Previous TreeSisters moderation experience would be wonderful but not necessary
- Willingness to spend time in the Nest - our online community platform (hosted on a Mighty Network)
- Ability to offer listening, encouragement, response and supporting without advising
- Willingness to model connected sisterhood as a path forward
- Willingness to navigate conflict with care and thoughtfulness

- Openness to operating in an experimental, experiential environment
- Enjoy working in a global team where discussion and collaboration are the norm

The Gifts of being a Nest Culture Builder
