Advancing care in pregnancy
through research and education

Support the Foundation

Advances in the care of women with high-risk pregnancies are made possible by individuals who believe in research and education. Supporting talented maternal-fetal medicine (MFM) physicians through the formative stages of their careers will expand research in pregnancy and will benefit the subspecialty and patients. You can support research and education in MFM by making a gift to the Foundation for SMFM.

DONATE

There are several ways to give:

- Make an immediate impact toward the Foundation's mission by donating online today. Visit FoundationForSMFM.org/donate
- Mail a check to the Foundation. Send it to us at Foundation for SMFM, 409 12th St SW, Ste 601, Washington, DC 20024
- Contribute other assets through the sale of appreciated securities or by recommending a grant from your donor-advised fund.
- Create a future gift to the Foundation through estate planning which can offer you additional tax benefits. Consider including the Foundation in your will or trust, or naming the Foundation as a beneficiary of retirement plan assets or a life insurance policy.

Message from the Chair

DEAR FRIENDS OF THE FOUNDATION FOR SMFM,

Mentorship is an integral part of the programs of the Foundation for SMFM. Our 2018 Annual Report highlights over 30 of our past awardees in a mentorship graphic that reveals the extent and variety of relationships created over the years between our awardees and their mentors and mentees through projects funded by the Foundation. We are committed to supporting the research and career development of the membership of the Society through our scholarships and grants that are available to members at various stages in their careers.

The Foundation received 128 applications for our six programs in 2018. In this annual report, you can read about the current recipients of all our awards including the SMFM/ AAOGF Scholarship, ABOG Bridge Funding Award, Garite Mini-Sabbatical Grants, Quilligan Scholars Program, and Queenan Fellowships for Global Health. You will learn how their awards have impacted their careers and will lead to improvements in the care of women with high-risk pregnancies in the United States and around the globe. The Foundation was honored to create the Danielle Peress, MD Memorial Fund in 2018 and over $60,000 in contributions from her family, friends, and colleagues have been received since her tragic and untimely death in November 2017. The Danielle Peress, MD Memorial Fund has been established to honor Dani's wishes – to further advance the field of MFM by supporting MFM fellows in their clinical or translational research endeavors during fellowship. Additional information and current applications for our programs are available at FoundationForSMFM.org/programs.

All our awards and programs require committee leadership and engagement to make the appropriate selections and for the ongoing mentorship and monitoring of our recipients. The dedication, time and effort of many individuals working behind the scenes with the Foundation Board and staff is a testament to the commitment we have to our awardees and the future of our specialty.

The Foundation's mission is to advance care in pregnancy through research and education, and we rely on your contributions to sustain our programs. The number of SMFM members who give annually to the Foundation has increased substantially from 133 in 2014 to 612 in 2018. A list of all contributors begins on page 13, and we are grateful to every single person who has donated.

As in past years, the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology Education Foundation (ABOG) has continued support of our Bridge Funding Award. This award provides additional protected research time for our physician scientists as they persevere to attain independent funding. We have focused and increased our communications and partnerships with corporations and are extremely grateful of their continued support. We also extend a special thank you to AMAG Pharmaceuticals, GE Healthcare, and Samsung for their substantial contributions to our programs in 2018.

On behalf of the members of the Foundation for SMFM Board of Directors, thank you again for your investment in the future of maternal-fetal medicine. We could not create opportunities and programs for practicing MFMs, fellows and residents without your generosity. We hope we can rely on you in 2019!

With gratitude and respect,

“The story of successful research may be told by one’s research family tree – our mentors and our supporters who make a profound impact on our career.”

JOE HURT, MD
2015-2018 SMFM/
AAOGF SCHOLAR

“As a Garite Mini-Sabbatical recipient in 2009, I learned the CVS technique from Dr. Laura Goetzl. Through this experience, I became more confident in performing the procedure independently and upon returning to my home institution in Boston, began my career performing CVS and teaching this skill to other fellows. I continued this work at Brigham and Women’s Hospital, where several of the MFM fellows I taught went on to teach other students in subsequent years.”

Foundation Mentorship Stories

“The mentorship provided through my Foundation-funded projects was critical in securing NIH funding for my translational science projects. I would not be where I am today without my incredible mentors and I will be forever grateful for their time and guidance. Mentors who believe in you and your work are vital to a successful career.”

JOY VINK, MD
2012-2015 SMFM/
AAOGF SCHOLAR AND
2015 BRIDGE FUNDING
AWARDEE

“Through mentorship opportunities as a Quilligan Scholar, I understand the importance of ‘paying it forward.’ My mentorship with Dr. Mary Norton began with connections and access to research opportunities in the California Prenatal Screening Program and evolved to encompass career and professional guidance. Because of the support I was provided by my mentor, I have worked to provide similar guidance for residents at my institution. This has involved setting up workshops for CV revisions and having conversations about how to narrow down their interests within MFM when making decisions about their future jobs. I have seen the benefit of having a role model support my development as a person and professional, and I am working to offer that support to others in my field now.”

Jacqueline Parchem, MD 2019-2022

University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston (UTHealth), McGovern Medical School

Modulation of neural tube development by amniotic fluid exosomes

Neural tube defects (NTDs) are common birth defects resulting from incomplete neural tube closure. Trauma from exposure of neural tissue to the amniotic environment leads to irreversible neurologic injury. The molecular mechanisms underlying NTD formation and secondary injury are complex and not well understood. Dr. Parchem is studying the role of cell-derived nanovesicles, called exosomes, in neural tube closure and NTDs. Using a combination of in-depth molecular analyses of human amniotic fluid samples and mechanistic studies in mouse and cell culture models, Dr. Parchem will test the hypothesis that amniotic fluid exosomes regulate neural tube closure and mediate responses to tissue injury in NTDs. Her mentor for the project is Dr. Raghu Kalluri from the Department of Cancer Biology at the University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center.

WHY I GIVE

“In the current climate of unstable scientific research funding, solid programs such as the SMFM/AAOGF Scholarship are of critical importance in nurturing the future leaders of our field. Not only does the program provide financial assistance to initiate and complete cutting-edge research, but it also gives young investigators incredible mentorship and guidance from the current giants of MFM. I will forever be grateful to the Foundation for my time spent as an SMFM Scholar.”

ANTONETTE DULAY, MD,
 2009–2012 SMFM/AAOGF SCHOLAR

WHY I

GIVE

“Ever since its inception the Foundation has shown a strong dedication and determination to educate, support and enhance the work of maternal-fetal medicine clinicians and researchers with a clear vision of optimizing the care of pregnant women in the USA and around the world.”

Corporate Council

The Foundation for SMFM gratefully acknowledges the members of our Corporate Council. These industry partners support our mission to advance care in pregnancy through research and education and are recognized on our website and at a luncheon at the SMFM Annual Meeting.

CORPORATE COUNCIL PREMIER

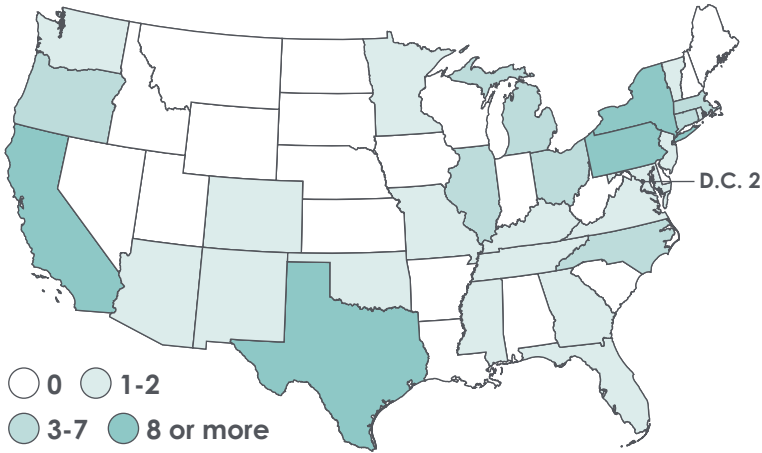

Literature Alert Series

The monthly Literature Alert Series is distributed by email to all who make a minimum contribution of $100 annually to the Foundation, as well as to MFM fellows who pledge to the Fellows Class Gift Campaign. It highlights recently published articles of particular interest to maternal-fetal medicine specialists from approximately 30 journals, and every issue contains 10-15 of the most important articles for MFMs from obstetric and non-obstetric journals. A committee of dedicated volunteers, led by Dr. Tony Sciscione, compiles the Literature Alert monthly.
